SECRET AERIAL TORPEDO NEW WAR WEAPON

Claim Flying Torpedo Mechanically Controlled Could Wreck Cities.

TESTS SUCCESSFUL

Experts Declare New Machine Will Render Coast Defenses Obsolete, Says Officials.

A successful mechanically controlled flying torpedo, destined to revolutionize land and sea warfare, has been developed for the United States army and navy air services. In a secret test two weeks ago this remarkable aircraft, said to be the most important aerial weapon ever constructed, flew over New York City and two Eastern States.

According to aerial experts here, the flying torpedo could easily have wrought destruction to lower Manhattan had it been loaded at the time.

The experiments with this machine have been carried on for several months on Chesapeake Bay, in New Jersey and Ohio, in strictest secrecy, not more than 100 persons in the entire country having knowledge of it. It already has made upwards of 100 flights, approximiating 5,000 miles in the air.

Its development, according to the experts, means that coastal fortifications are rendered obsolete.

Attacking in large numbers, machines of this type will be able to annihilate cities with incendiary explosives and poison gases without the loss of a single life to the attacking force, the experts declare.

In actual warfare the flying torpedoes will be guided through the air to their target without a soul on board.

In its flight over New York City two weeks ago the experimental flying torpedo made an unexpected landing near a small town in Eastern Pennsylvania. This landing attracted little attention at the time. Details of its construction and control are still shrouded in mystery.

The test flight on that occasion commenced from a landing ground near New York. After the engine was started the machine ran a short distance across the field, and then took the air successfully and climbed to the predestined altitude. It then set its course due west, straight into a stiff head-wind.

The most remarkable feature of the new aircraft is the development which causes it to "take off" from the starting field. The secret apparatus controlling the elevators—which govern the ascent and descent of an airplane—is absolutely successful, according to the experts who have watched the experiments. For straight flying across country the machine is equipped with apparatus which gives it inherent stability causing it to right itself under all conditions.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 7.—The conciliatory and amicable frame of mind in which the Japanese delegates to the arms conference have appeared in Washington during the past week, evidently reflecting the official attitude of the Japanese government, is regarded here as probably the most hopeful of all signs for the success of the conference.

In their statements to the newspaper correspondents and to government officials, the whole of the Japanese delegation of more than fifty experts and advisers has assumed an attitude of eagerness to enter into the forthcoming delicate negotiations with the hope of being able to aid materially not only in reducing the armaments of the world, but also of settling the Far Eastern and Pacific questions. Because Japan is the storm centre of the whole conference, the key to its success, this attitude has given great pleasure to the American delegation and to all those who have the success of the conference most at heart. There is no question but that an entente cordiale between the Japanese delegation and the Americans has already been established on such a firm basis that it would be most difficult to tear down.

Being a former President of the United States gives no one special privileges in the District of Columbia, Woodrow Wilson has found. On Friday last he submitted a request to the building inspector of the District for a permit to add a story to his one story garage in the rear of his home 2340 S street. A minor official of the District refused the request on the ground that the building code prohibited the erection of higher than one story garages in the residence sec tion.

Five United States Senators, one former Senator and the Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia are among those who object to high rents in Washington and who have filed complaints with the Rent Commission asking reductions.

As a result, the Rent Commission has undertaken to set rents in the whole apartment building, one of the most exclusive in the city. Notices have been served upon the owners to appear before the commission with figures showing the cost of the apartment building and the cost of maintenance from which the Commission will determine fair rentals for all the tenants, numbering several hundred.

Renewed pressure from France for ratification of a French-British-American alliance and statements from eminent Japanese regarding a Jap-British-American alliance, have caused officials of the Harding administration to reaffirm with emphasis the principle that this government is not contemplating and will not countenance an alliance of any sort as a result of the conference on the limitation of armaments.

Four women will take part officially in the conference on limitation of armament and far eastern problems, but more than 4,000,000 organized women in the United States, to say nothing of the millions in this and other countries not formally affiliated with any organization will be here through their own authorized representatives and in spirit when President Harding delivers his address of welcome to the delegates in the assembly hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution next Saturday.

It is a source of surprise and disappointment to women in Washington that so few women from overseas will attend the conference. Many were expected, especially from Great Britain and France, but so far, with the exception of the wives of delegates and advisers, no women have come from either country and the only representative of the female sex to arrive so far besides those mentioned is Mme Kaji Yajima, ninety years old and Japan's first woman teacher, who is in Washington to present to President Harding a peace petition over 100 yards long written on rice paper and signed by 10,000 Japanese women.

"I went out on the street car last night," said Senator Cameron, of Arizona today, "and although it was packed, there were not more than half a dozen of the occupants speaking English. This certainly shows that Washington is being filled up with foreigners who are coming to watch the deliberations of the conference on the limitation of armaments."

VOTE TOMORROW

We urge the qualified voters of Alexandria to go to the polls tomorrow and cast their ballot! Their franchise is more than a privilege---it is a duty! To neglect it here in Alexandria is to be false to the Old Dominion who has mothered them and their forebears through all the centuries!

The will of the people finds its only expression through the ballot. The will of the people is the only sovereignty in a Republic. Unless you register your will at the polls—you are no more than a slave—others rule you without your consent—or worse, through your culpable negligence.

Vote tomorrow! There are strange gods set up among us; false doctrines of Republican heresy. If they prevail, the proud heritage of the Southland is destroyed forever!

The enemy is alert and vigilant. Only through Democratic indolence and civic sloth can he win his nefarious fight. Make it your first duty tomorrow morning to go to the polls.

Do more! Urge your neighbors and friends to vote! Work all day, if necessary, but do your part to see that Alexandria casts the biggest vote in her history!—Administer to these expounders of an alien creed—these slanderers of your own people—such rebuke as will silence them forever.

If you do not vote tomorrow you are unworthy of your glorious patrimony! You are a betrayer of your state! You are a slacker and a traitor when she needs you!

Vote! Arouse your fellow-citizens to vote! Let the Old Dominion tomorrow behold the greatest victory for Democracy ever recorded in her annals!

STATE OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED TOMORROW

Estimated That 2,500 Votes Will Be Cast in State Election.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

Polls Will Open at 6:41 A. M., and Close at 5:02 P. M.—Both Sides Ready.

With fair weather promised by the weather man tomorrow indications are that a good sized vote will be polled in the election, notwithstanding the fact that the campaign here has been characterized by considerable apathy. Leaders of both the Democrats and Republicans will be on hand and make an effort to get out the voters.

The polls will open at sunrise, 6:43 a. m., and close at sunset, 5:01.

The voting places will be as follows: First ward, rear of old Elks' Hall, Prince and Royal streets; Second ward, 110 North Royal street; Third ward, Odd Fellows' Hall, North Columbus street; Fourth ward Friendship engine house, South Alfred street.

Every indication points to a substantial majority for the Democrats for both state and local offices, State Senator E. Lee Trinkle, Democratic nominee for governor, will undoubtedly lead the state ticket. The Republicans, however, claim that Col. Henry W. Anderson, the Republican nominee, will make considerable gains here over previous Republican candidates for office.

In the local contest the following Democratic candidates have opposition:

Commonwealth's attorney, Howard W. Smith is opposed by John Barton Phillips; Clerk of the Courts, Nevell S. Greenaway is opposed by Capt. Fountain Beattie; Clerk of the Gas Frederick G. Ebhardt is opposed by Ferdinand Devaughan. Charles Henry Smith, the Democratic nominee for the house of delegates to represent this city and Arlington county is opposed by Mrs. Mary M. Lockwood of Arlington county.

Tomorrow will be a legal holiday in Virginia and banks and state offices will be closed all day.

There are about 3,800 qualified voters in the city. It is predicted today that probably not more than 2,500 votes will be cast in tomorrow's election. In the Democratic primary held August 2 a total of 2,060 votes were polled.

Arlington Lodge No. 193, of Clarendon, will pay Accotink Lodge No. 75, a fraternal visit tonight. All Odd Fellows are invited.

CRUPPER GETS FAT PLUM FROM JUDGE GRONER

Appointment as Receiver Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation.

LOCAL THUNDERBOLT

Creditors Apply to Norfolk Federal Judge—Chairman State Republican Committee Appointed.

Something of a sensation in legal and political circles was caused by the arrival of the news that Judge Groner of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia while sitting in Chambers at Norfolk on Friday, November 4th., had appointed Mr. Joseph L. Crupper, chairman of the State Republican Committee, receiver for the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation of this city.

The petition for a receiver was made by Johns-Manville, incorporated; Roller Smith Company, incorporated, and William T. Little, creditors. The proceedings were brought without notice to the company or its counsel. Judge Norton, counsel for the corporation when seen here today said:

"The appointment of a receiver for the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation by the United States Court on petition of Johns-Manville, incorporated; Roller Smith company, incorporated and William T. Little, was naturally a great surprise to me. Bankruptcy proceedings were already pending in the same court upon petition of creditors to which answer had been filed and issue made. What statement could have been made which led to the appointment of a receiver without notice to defendant I have not yet learned. The matter will be promptly taken up and called to the attention of the court."

The petition was filed by a Norfolk legal firm representing the creditors and the appointment of Mr. Joseph L. Crupper as a receiver for the concern was totally unexpected.

Other attorneys representing the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation were as much in the dark concerning the action of the court as was Judge Norton. It is rumored that there will be a consultation of legal talent representing the defendant some time during the day.

Two big stills were captured this afternoon by Policemen Magner and Durrer at a house occupied by colored people on Pendleton street, between Royal and Pitt streets.

One of the stills has a capacity of twenty-five gallons and the other about twenty-five gallons. In addition they captured a quantity of peach mash. The police expect to apprehend the owner of the stills later in the day.

STATE NEWS

Petersburg.—Delegates of the Baptist Women's Missionary Union in convention here Friday elected the following officers: President, Mrs. H. B. Cross, Clifton Forge; first vice president, Mrs. John F. Vines, Roanoke; second vice president, Mrs. R. A. Henderson, Buchanan; secretaries. Miss Lizzie Savage, Richmond; Miss Mae Burton, Petersburg; Miss Katherine Harris, Richmond; Miss Alta Foster, Richmond; treasurer; F. T. Crums, Richmond. First Baptist church, Roanoke, was selected for next annual convention.

Bristol.—Irving Speers, of Richmond, representing the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, was the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the local Kiwanis Club. Mr. Speers, who is a member of the Richmond Kiwanis Club, talked briefly of the work undertaken this year by the Virginia Tuberculosis Association of the sale of the Christmas Red Cross seals, which enables the society to meet the expenses of its health program in the state.

Richmond.—In the next war of the first magnitude, guns of a size, range and mobility now hardly dreamed of will settle the issue Leroy Hodges, aid to Gov. Westmoreland Davis, of Virginia, and ordnance officer of the Virginia national guard, told the Richmond chapter of the American association of engineers here Friday night. "No weapon of warfare now conceived, Major Hodges said, "will render obsolete or take the place of heavy guns—not even the development of aircraft."

Richmond.—E. K. Victor, German vice-consul in Richmond, who was interned by the federal government during the war, was asked in a letter yesterday by the special committee of the Richmond post, American Legion, whether he would appear before it in its investigation into his alleged acts before and during the war. He was asked to fix a date convenient to himself for his appearance before the committee.

Fork Union.—Quite a large number of wild turkeys have been killed in this district since the opening of the season. Six were shot November 1 by four hunters. Birds and rabbits are plentiful in Fluvanna.

Richmond.—The lily white faction of the Republican party staged a street parade and torchlight procession here tonight before Henry W. Anderson, candidate of that faction for governor, made his final speech of the campaign in Richmond at the city auditorium. It was reported that the lily blacks who are running John Mitchell, Jr., for governor planned to parade tonight, too, with a brass band but it turned out that their parade is scheduled for Monday night. J. B. Pollard, state chairman of the lily blacks, stated that the lily black ticket expected to poll 99 per cent. of the negro vote in the state, so sharply have the issues been drawn between his faction and that of the lily whites.

Farmville.—"Collective marketing among the farmers of the South is growing like the baby that was fed on elephant's milk," was the heartening message brought by Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, to the Second Rural Life Congress being held here under the auspices of the State Normal school. Mr. Poe was one of the principal speakers on the farmer's day program and he urged the farmers to get together in order to sell their products with reasonable profit to themselves.

Pulaski.—Senator Trinkle, before an audience that packed the Elks' theatre here last night, delivered the concluding address of his campaign for governor. He has borne up wonderfully under the stress of his vigorous fight during the last ten months, first for the nomination in the primary, and then for the election, and he never appeared in finer form, nor made a finer speech, than he did last night. He held the enthusiastic attention of his large audience, and his telling points were greeted with great applause.

Lynchburg.—It is stated here that the directors of the Virginia Baptist hospital, which has been chartered to build a hospital here from funds to come from the $75,000,000 campaign, out on by the Southern Baptists two years ago, hope to have funds sufficient to start the erection of the first unit of the building early during the coming year. A detailed report is to go from the board to the general convention of the denomination to convene next week in Portsmouth. The first unit of the hospital is proposed to cost about $150,000.

Able To Be Out Again

Rev. Louis Smet, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, who was knocked in the head by a burglar last Wednesday morning at the church parsonage, is able to be out again. The three wounds inflicted in his head with a blackjack or some instrument are rapidly healing. Father Smet yesterday celebrated mass at the 7 o'clock services at St. Mary's. No trace of the assailant of Father Smet has thus far been found by the police.

IN READINESS TO BEGIN ARMS PARLEY WORK

Briand and Balfour Only Envoys Yet to Arrive in Washington.

OPTIMISM FOR TASK

Claims of Outsiders Likely to Be Sidetracked By Peace Conference Heads.

"We are ready to proceed."

Developments to date in connection with the conference for the limitation of armaments indicate that this will be the reply of the chairman of each invited delegation when the initial session is called to order next Saturday morning.

Every nation that will participate in the conference is represented here today. The "headliners" for Britain and France—Arthur J. Balfour and Premier Briand—still are to arrive. The French delegation is due today. Balfour will arrive on Thursday. He will sit as head of the British representation until Premier Lloyd George comes, probably a fortnight hence.

Already the momentous question of how far it will be possible to go in completing a program of world peace is being debated within the guarded precincts of the several delegations. The feeling to date is one of optimism. It universally is agreed that definite action must be taken and that each nation must be prepared to make sacrifices in order that a complete agreement may be reached. Whether this attitude will continue when the cards are on the table and the necessity arises of paying the price for future world peace, only the developments themselves will tell. But for the present at least the air is filled with hope and no single individual has sounded a discordant note.

Sunday generally was a day of rest for the foreign envoys and their aides. Many attended religious services. Others participated in various social functions. And many of the advisors and experts of the delegations took advantage of the absence of visitors to compile statistics that will be needed later. This was especially so of the Japanese and Chinese delegations.

There has been complete absence of fraternizing among the various delegations up to the present time. Of course there have been the usual formal calls. Cards have been left at the door and formal greetings have been exchanged. But the majority of the delegations have been so busy settling down for the forth-coming grind that there has been very little time for social happenings.

FATHER AND SON WEEK

Kiwanis Club Members Will Entertain Sons At Luncheon

National "Father and Son" week which begins today, will be fittingly observed in Alexandria. Thursday the Kiwanis Club luncheon will be a "father and son" affair, and every Kiwanian will be expected to bring a son to the luncheon.

There is some anxiety in the ranks of the members of that popular organization as they do not all boast the proud possession of a son. But Secretary Wallace, of the Y. M. C. A., who is assisting in the arranging of the program, assures all that they will be able to secure sons from the different Pioneer troops of the city.

It is said that every member is expected to bring a son and failure to do so might exclude the member or be an occasion for a heavy fine to be collected by the "sheriff" Claude Fletcher. Mr. Wallace says that the program will be so arranged that the youngsters will have the time of their young lives, and it has been hinted that chicken might be on the menu.

The second observance of the week will probably be a Pioneer and "Y" boys affair at the Chamber of Commerce Saturday night when the youngsters will entertain the "dads" at a feed which the Ladies Auxiliary of the "Y" will superintend. It is said that many of the mothers will assist and the "feed" is to be one characteristic of the Pioneers' way of doing things.

Both of these meetings are to have appropriate addresses which will endavor to cement more closely the relationship between "father and son." The week was instituted several years ago by the Y. M. C. A., and has since become a national affair.

A minstrel show by High School boys and girls will be given in the High School auditorium on the nights of Friday and Saturday, November 18 and 19. Miss Kroes Ficklin is directing the rehearsals which are now being held. It is announced that Fred Pettit, the well known black face comedian, will play the leading role.

FATHER AND SON WEEK

This week is to be Father and Son Week. The Kiwanis Club is to celebrate it by a Father and Son dinner at it's meeting on Thursday. There is a national movement in the direction of encouraging a closer intimacy between father and son. It had its inception in 1909, and has had a remarkable growth. The Y. M. C. A. are the originators, but it has been adopted by churches and Sunday Schools and other organizations all over the country, and is today a recognized institution. Further than this, it is apparently becoming world-wide, and is a constructive agency for good that occupies a new but none the less important field.

If fathers everywhere would only foster a more intimate companionship with their sons; if, instead of holding aloof from their daily lives, their immature interests, their youthful adventures, their vague ideals,—they would take them into their own sympathy and confidence, they would work a marvelous change in the lad's outlook on the world.

HOME MOVIES

It is a matter for congratulation among our Movie Fans that one of the local theatres is instituting an orchestral addition to its screen attractions. A piano, violin and cello are now to discourse popular and classic music and the eye and the ear will alike receive the impressions that soothe the tired brain and delight the fantasy. We are given to understand that the trio will be enlarged to a quartette if the Alexandria audiences approve the innovation. We likewise have an intimation that some great treats are in store this winter. Among others, the "Three Musketeers," which we unhesitatingly pronounce the greatest film drama ever produced. Several attractions now on the tapis are remarkably interesting and the house should play to capacity crowds day and night. We have one suggestion to make to our readers: Instead of pitching upon the hour of seven or thereabouts why not go in the afternoon, as well, and alternate the attendance. This would give seats to every one, and relieve the pressure that now often prevails at the former hour. We hope Alexandrians will patronize our Movie Theatres in increasing numbers. This will facilitate the earlier acquisition of the best dramas in the country for local exhibition, and our people are certainly entitled to the best.

LOCAL BURGLARIES

Alexandria is unfortunately situated as regards a winter criminal population. Its proximity to Washington helps to make it a rendezvous for the malefactor who preys on society, especially during the four or five months of cold weather. Right recently we have had an experience in this direction in the narrow escape of Father Smet from serious injury; a man whose life in this community could be illy spared, and who was the victim of both burglary and murderous assault.

This and other incidents have created an alarm in the community, especially among the women, that should certainly be alleviated. Our reporter has interviewed those officials who may be said to share responsibility for life and property in Alexandria, and his report will doubtless be read with interest.

Salute The Hero--Alexandria!

On Wednesday, ninth instant, the body of America's unknown hero, the brave soldier-boy who gave his all—his life—for his country on Flanders Fields—will be borne on the United States War-ship "Olympia," past Alexandria, to Washington.

The mortal remains of this laddie of tender years, dear to sweetheart, or gray-haired mother, or nearer still, perhaps, to some bereaved wife and little ones—will pass the historic shores of Alexandria sometime on Wednesday of this week.

Chosen by a grateful country to be interred with pomp and ceremony in his last resting-place at Arlington; unknown by name; one of those heroes of which this country had thousands—nay, millions—thank God!—this consecrated corpse, as it passes these historic shores, should receive some tribute of tender reverence and fitting respect.

We say chosen,—but as a type as well as an individual. In him we venerate our army of dead whose valor and devotion saved stricken Europe from years of tyranny and oppression. Nay, saved to civilization itself that priceless jewel for which mankind had wrought and died through the slow-moving centuries—liberty of thought and action—freedom under the law!

We understand that President Williams, of the Kiwanians, is already active in behalf of that public-spirited body. That Mayor Duncan is to have the bells of the city tolled during the solemn passage; that President Smoot will ask the members of the Chamber of Commerce to make due observance; that Superintendent Sweeney is to have the school-children gather on the wharves. We think it not inappropriate to have the entire citizenship at the water-front, with heads bowed and bared, as the ship of mourning passes with its sacred burden.

We owe it to the heroic dead of Alexandria who perished on foreign soil, or in the performance of patriotic duty elsewhere, to see that their comrade has due tribute paid to his and their memory.

We suggest that it might be well to have some organized observance of the occasion, and that the heads of the various civic bodies meet and arrange a program to be carried out by them, as well as the city at large.

E. E. PADGETT FORMER RESIDENT DIES TODAY

E. E. Padgett, a former resident of this city, died suddenly this morning at his residence, 714 Tenth street, southeast Washington.

The deceased is survived by his wife who was a Miss Lillian Kaus, of this city. Mr. Padgett was a son of the late E. E. Padgett, of this city, and was well known here where he had many friends.

For many years past Mr. Padgett had held a responsible position with the Southern Railway Company in Washington at the company's general offices.

Mr. Padgett was a member of Alexandria Lodge of Elks, No. 758, and that lodge will hold a lodge of sorrow tonight for the deceased.

LITTLE STORIES OF THE STREET
By The Man About Town

The recent vicious assault made by a midnight prowler upon Reverend Louis Smet has aroused a lot of comment on the part of residents of the city concerning the probability of other occurrences of like character during the coming winter. Ordinarily free from such depredations, anxious citizens are asking themselves whether there is any liability of an influx of undesirables and whether the local police department is doing all in its power to cope with the possible contingency.

The Man About Town found Mayor Jim Duncan at the Police Station. In reply to our questions the Mayor said: "The people of Alexandria have no cause to be unduly alarmed. The Police Department is doing everything possible to prevent the activity of criminals in this town. We have an efficient force of patrolmen and property is well guarded. All suspicious strangers are picked up and investigated. We have a couple of 'holdovers' nearly every night."

"How about the vagrants around the railroad yards?" questioned The Man About Town.

"The railroads maintain their own detective and police force for the protection of their property. Illegal train riders and trespassers are arrested when found."

"Have you any suggestions to offer householders concerning their co-operation with the department in keeping crime against property reduced to a minimum?"

"Yes I believe that they should co-operate. You'd better see Chief Goods about that."

Thanking the Mayor for the information the Man About Town set out to find the Chief of Police. We discovered him behind the railing in his office. Introducing ourselves we stated that we were in search of an interview which might interest Gazette readers.

"What do you want to know," asked the Chief.

"How many criminals are in Alexandria?" we questioned, knowing somehow that it sounded foolish.

A puzzled expression flitted across the face of the bluff and hearty chief. "Well now, If I knew that—I'd have them right here."

"Putting it differently, Chief—is there a floating element in the town who might be criminally inclined?"

"Not so you can notice it!" The Chief was on firm footing now. "Every fellow who comes here and hangs around without working has to explain it to us. The patrolmen have orders to pick up every suspicious character and bring him in. We have a few stragglers to deal with nearly every day. Fellows out of work and down on their luck mostly. But we keep 'em moving. It's go to work or get out of town."

"Have you any suggestions to make regarding the co-operation of property owners with the Police Department?" suggested the Man About Town.

"Yes. I think people should be more body."

Woodlawn Revival

Sermon By Rev. Dr. Briggs Yesterday Before Large Congregation

The rivival at Woodlawn started off under the most auspicious circumstances yesterday. The sermon by Dr. Briggs was received with deep feeling.

It is rare that such widespread and intense interest is manifested from the very beginning. Numbers of requests for prayer and professions were made.

Dr. Briggs' pithy and epigrammatic style sweeps an audience before him. He had them in laughter or tears most of the time, yet did it without resort to platform acrobatics or trickery. His deep earnestness profound thought and fund of humor make his sermons a joy.

From the text, "Who is on the Lord's Side," he clearly demonstrated that everybody is on the Lord's side or the devils and bound for either heaven or hell." The Lord has erected no half-way houses for anybody," he exclaimed. The aid of Adjutant R. L. Myers and Captain Myers in their master by managing of the song and music service, is all that could be desired.

roses on every bosom not averse to

Quite a unique and pleasing feature was the pinning of beautiful roses on every bosom not averse to cheerfulness by young lady members of Woodlawn.

A very delightful treat is expected Tuesday night in the singing of Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Granger, who expect to come down that night with their husbands.

Democratic Organization Perfected

Richmond, Va., Nov. 7.—Now that the gubernatorial campaign in Virginia is nearing its close, it is generally recognized by the Democrats of the State that there has been perfected one of the most perfect political organizations that has been seen in Virginia in the last twenty years. The work has been more or less quietly undertaken, while that of the Republicans has been shouted and proclaimed from the house tops.

Among the most effective arms operating under the Democratic organization, headed by the State Chairman and secretary, has been that of the campaign committee, of which General W. W. Sale is the chairman. General Sale, with his advisory committee, has been constantly on the job and, with the same minute perfection that he displayed in handling the draft for Virginia during the World War, and the recognized success with which he handled Senator Trinkle's primary campaign, has effectively corralled the Democratic efficiency of the various cities and counties of the state down to the minutest detail of precinct workers.

Recognizing the wonderful organization that was effected during the primary campaign, probably the best put on in Virginia in many years, whereby all of the cities and the one hundred counties had at least some semblance of organization, while a large majority of them were fully organized with every precinct, the State Central Committee's advisory subcommittee hastened to avail itself of General Sale and his organization.

While the Republican organization has probably had command of unlimited campaign funds and access to the leading newspapers of the state, in which they have advertised freely thereby exploiting their efforts far beyond their deserts, the result of the fight will demonstrate beyond any cavil the efficiency and effectiveness of the Democratis organization, which has been under the direction of General W. W. Sale.

WORLD PEACE

An Appeal By The Governor

To The People of Virginia:

In the cause of World Peace, I call upon all the people of Virginia to gather in their usual places for divine worship on Armistice Day, Friday, November 11th, 1921, and there, as well as in the home, pray for success in limiting national armaments, and the establishment of an everlasting peace in the world.

Armistice Day has been set aside to be observed as a public holiday throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia, and I urge the ministers of all denominations to assist properly in observing this third anniversary of the cessation of hostilities in the world war by gathering their respective congregations together in prayer on this day, not only for World Peace, but in grateful memory of the beloved and valorous lives so generously given to their Nation's cause in the great struggle for the preservation of human liberties and the protection of the institutions of democracy.

WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor.

UNION SERVICES

Three Churches Unite In Series of Service—Large Attendance

Last night the congregations of the Methodist, First Presbyterian, and Trinity M. E. Church, met together in Trinity M. E. Church filling up every seat in this large church to overflowing, a wonderful gathering of people the like of which has not been seen together since the days of Gypsy Smith, in this city, when the Protestant Churches of this city united for a great campaign. This great congregation was led in a stirring song service by the combined choirs of the three churches.

Rev. Dr. John Lee Allison, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, delivered a wonderful sermon in his usual eloquent way, taking as his text, "Luke Nineteenth Chapter Tenth Verse." The son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

At the close of the sermon many came forward and knelt at the altar, a wonderful sight, to see men and women coming back to God. A great many raised their hands for prayer, all over the congregation.

Rev. Martin and Rev. Mr. Browne conducted the service.

These services will continue all this week. Tonight the preacher will be the Rev. Robert Browne, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church. Everyone welcome. Don't forget the time, 7:30 this evning. Come.

BARN DESTROYED

Loss On Property of Mrs. Sarah M. Baggett Will Be About $2500

The big frame barn of Mrs. Sarah M. Baggett in the rear of her residence, 1701 King street was destroyed by fire shortly before 8 o'clock last night. Stored in the barn were three tons of hay, a large quantity of firewood, and a number of agricultural implements. A wagon in the place was gotten out. Mrs. Baggett estimates the loss will be about $2500 and there was no insurance.

The origin of the fire has not been determined, although it is believed that boys smoking cigarettes were responsible.

The fire made a big blaze and attracted a large crowd. Every piece of fire apparatus in the city was put to work.

A Virginia Republican

Richmond, Va., Nov. 7.—(Special)—The following is a summary of the official record of Col. "Brac" Stovall, who presented Col. Henry W. Anderson in Danville on the night of October 26, when the Republican candidate for governor delivered an address. The record will revive memories of the days of Reconstruction, or attempted race equality and of the strong stand made by decent Virginians, against such men as Col. Stovall, to save the state. It is as follows:

Col. Stovall was defeated for the Republican nomination for the State Senate in Halifax County by H. Clay Harris, a negro, and then accepted the Republican nomination for the House on the same ticket with this negro. He later ran for the Senate on the same ticket with Silas Lawson, another negro. Col. Stovall was a member of the General Assembly of 1872-73. A bill was introduced giving to negroes equal rights and privileges in all public conveyances, hotels, theatres, etc. The House defeated the bill. On January 16, 1873, a negro. Peter J. Carter, moved to reconsider the bill. If this motion had been adopted the bill would have been revived. On a recorded vote Mr. Stovall voted for the negro's motion. (See House Journal 1872-73, page 137).

Col. Stovall was also a Republican member of the House of Delegates of 1874. The Civil Rights Bill was pending in Congress. That bill would have forced the people of the South to grant privileges to the negroes similar to those proposed in the bill above referred to. The Senate of Virginia protested against the Civil Rights Bill. When the Senate Resolution of protest came to the House the same negro, Peter J. Carter, moved to dismiss it. Mr. Stovall is recorded as again following this notorious negro against the white people of Virginia. (See House Journal 1874, page 45.)

In the sessinon of 1872-73 a resolution was offered the purpose of which was to compel the election of negroes on juries. The House defeated the proposition. On January 16, 1873, one Evans moved to reconsider, which would have revived this iniquitous measure. Mr. Stovall voted to re-consider, (See House Journal 1872-73, page 137.)

In the session of 1871-72 a certain federal appropriation was available for agricultural schools in the state. The legislature proposed to spend two thirds of this money at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and one-third at the Hampton Institute for negroes. The negro. Peter J. Carter, offered an amendment proposing to decrease the share of the white students of V. P. I. and increase the share of colored students at Hampton. and as usual. Mr. Stovall voted with the negro. (See House Journal, 1871-72, page 476.)

There is no record that Mr. Stovall favored mixed schools, but there is decided record that he was not opposed thereto. So far as can be ascertained this question only came before the legislature once while Mr. Stovall was a member. Upon that occasion Mr. Stovall outrageously failed the white people of Virginia. This was on February 2, 1872. The bill creating what is now the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg was before the House. Evans of negro jury fame offered an amendment providing that "no student should be denied admission to said institute on account of race, color of previous condition of servitude," (See House Journal 1871-72, page 252.) The purpose of this outrageous amendment and its effect would have been to have made Virginia's great agricultural college a mixed, mongrel, negroid institution. it is hard to see how any white Virginian could have done other than have fought such a proposal with all of his energy and vigor. And yet on a recorded vote on Evans' amendment, Mr. Stovall failed to vote either way, although he must have been present as he answered the roll call immediately preceding that vote and the roll-call immediately following that vote.

Some of those present last night knew of this record and therefore should be pardoned for smiling at Mr. Anderson's disclaimer for the Republican party of negro influence in their councils. Particularly is this true when Col. Stovall still holds rank in that party as evidenced by his selection as chairman of last night's meeting and his presentation to the audience by Chairman F. L. Lumpkin as "The old veteran." It is believed that had Col. Anderson known of the effect negro suffrage had had upon "the old veteran" when the negroes did have the vote he would not have been so dogmatic in his contentjon that the influence of the negro in political affairs could never be potential.

A man named William Terry, lately from Canada, was taken and committed to jail in this town on Sunday last, suspected of being a spy.

Colonel Lair, chief of the marine engineers at Antwerp, has recently constructed by direction of Bonaparte, a number of flying bridges; by means of one of them 1000 men can be passed from one bank of the Scheldt to the other. They likewise offer great facilities for embarking and disembarking even of loaded wagons, whatever may be the state of the tide or of the sea.

President Venable on Medical School

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 7.—Dr. Francis P. Venable, former president of the University of North Carolina and a widely known educator, in a letter to Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, received here today, strongly favors the retention of the medical school at the University rather than its removal to Richmond.

"I hope very much," writes Dr. Venable, "that Virginia will take the very wise step of concentrating her efforts in behalf of medical education upon the upbuilding and strengthening of the school of medicine at the University."

Dr. Venable also expressed the belief that North Carolina would take the same step in regard to medical education at her own state university. He states that it would be the only logical thing for North Carolina to do and that it would be humilitating to think of her depending upon any of her sister states in so vital a matter.

Dr. Venable briefly outlined his reasons for supporting the University location, stating that the present medical department of the University of Virginia was recognized as one of the most thorough in the country and would make the strongest foundation for the consolidated school. He stated that thirty years of exerience had convinced him that the proper place for medical training is in intimate contact with a first-class well equipped university.

Jewish Relief

New York, Nov. 7.—A meeting of the representative Jews from 46 cities and towns in Virginia has been called for Sunday noon, November 6, at the Jefferson Club, Richmond, by Rabbi Edward N. Calisch of Richmond and Moe Levy of Norfolk, State Chairman of the American Jewish Relief Committee. The meeting will form a state wide organization to raise Virginia's quota of the $[illegible],000,000 fund being gathered by the American Jewish Relief Committee for the relief of hundreds of thousands of destitute Jews in Central and Western Europe. David A. Brown, the prominent business man who is chairman of the money raising appeal will address the gathering and Felix M. Warburg, the New York banker, has been invited to attend.

Leopold Rubin, of Alexandria, will take an active part in the campaign.

About a third of the $14,000,000 to be raised by American Jews for their stricken brethren in Europe will be used for emergency relief work in Russia, where the American Jewish Relief Committee will co-operate with Herbert Hoover's American Relief Administration. In the Ukraine and the Odessa regions particularly, because of the continuous political upheavals of recent years, the plight of the large Jewish population is pitiable in the extreme. Incidentally there are some 200,000 war orphans absolutely dependent on funds from America to keep them from starvation.

A large part of the fund will be devoted to aiding in the restoration of normal life in districts where it has been completely disrupted. Through the utilization of credit agencies and co-operatives the Committee plans to enable hundreds of thousands of Jews who have lost their means of livelihood to become once more self-supporting.

Dearest loved one thou hast left us,
And our loss we deeply feel,

MOTHER! CLEAN
CHILD'S BOWELS WITH
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of Mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on the bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

FAGGED FEELINGS
DRAG SPIRITS DOWN

Caused By Decayed Waste In Blood —Pepto-Mangan Needed.

When a man's feelings get into a crumbling condition and the fabric of his strength seems unstable, and he begins to look sullen and think dark, discouraged thoughts, it is usually caused by stale blood, clogged with waste which acts like a poison on the system.

In stale, weakened blood Gude's Pepto-Mangan starts a change. It feeds the blood with iron and other ingredients that make blood red and full of vigor. There is immediate evidence of the restorative powers of enriched blood. Perhaps it is more noticeable in the smack and flavor of food. After sleep there is a sort of triumphant feeling of refreshed vigor. Great is the delight of restored health.

Physicians recommend and prescribe Gude's Pepto-Mangan. It is a recognized blood builder, and it has genuine medicinal value. Sold in both liquid and tablet form.—Adv.

To Carry Voice of President Harding

When President Harding delivers the funeral address over the body of the "Unknown Soldier" on Armistice Day, his words will be heard by the largest audience the human voice has ever reached. His voice will be carried across the continent to New York and San Francisco, where meetings composed of American Legion members and friends will hear him plainly and distinctly through the medium of "Loud Speakers." In addition, a loud speaking system has been installed in the Arlington National Cemetery and if half a million people could gather on the broad slopes of that beautiful place they could hear with perfect clearness every word of the President's address, every note of the singers, and every syllable of the solemn commitment services when they lay this "Unknown Hero" within his tomb.

No feat of communication has ever equalled this. Never before has the transmission of sound been used in this way. Although the President, delivering his Inaugural Address on March 4 saw before him a vast audience of 200,000 or more; and although he knew that everyone in that audience heard his voice by means of "Loud Speakers," although he was conscious that the spoken word had a greater power than ever before because he spoke to the greatest audience evr gathered, upon Armistice Day, the President will speak to men and women gathered to hear him in cities that span the continent

He will have an opportunity for talking to his fellows never heretofore given to the head of this or any other nation.

It will initiate a new era in oratory, undreamed of heretofore.

In addition to the President's voice, all of the solemn ceremonies, the buglers "taps," the hymns, the words of the foreign ministers as they bestow honors upon this soldier and the solemn burial phrases will be carried surely and distinctly to the waiting legionnaires across the continent.

For several weeks past organizers of the American Legion and the engineers of the Bell System have been working together to bring about these meetings and the transmission of these Arlington ceremonies. Everything that the engineers have done has been predicated by the fact that Armistice Day will be the most solemn minute in the history of America. For that reason the American Legion, veterans, who have a vital part in the day's events, were asked to co-operate. Although numerous opportunities were offered by which the President's speech could be directed to miscellaneous channels those in charge adopted a firm policy of sticking to the orignal plan and thus insuring success from the standpoint not only from the engineers and technical men but from the standpoint of the solemnity of the occasion.

This opportunity for so many people to hear the words of the ceremony will be the gift of the Bell Telephone System to the people of the nation. It is not a commercial enterprise in any way.

The engineers and experts in charge have been working on the loud speaking system at Arlington and across the continent and in the three cities for more than a month. On Armistice Day telephone engineers all the way across the country will be on guard for twenty-four hours watching every bit of delicate equipment. For hundreds of miles the famous trans-continental telephone line will be patrolled by crews of linemen to guard against possible breaks or accidents. To reach the crowds in the three cities the President's voice will have passed over thousands of miles of wire, through a great maze of the most delicate yet powerful instruments and apparatus and will have been "boosted" repeatedly before and after being sent over the wires. Much space is taken up by the huge machinery for this great feat of transmission and yet none of the mechanical and electrical part will be seen, or will interfere with the classic beauty of the amphitheatre. Complete crews of experts and engineers operating the loud speaking system from Arlington all the way to San Francisco will be out of sight so that there is nothing visible. There will be nothing except the magical amplification of the solemn ceremonies and the President's stirring speech so that everyone who can crowd about can hear.

One of the miraculous effects of the "Loud Speaker" is in the perfect control of the power, whereby the voice can be made to carry for a mile or more but at no point is the audience aware of any mechanical effect. One can stand in front of the speaker, turn around and walk for half mile while the speech is going on, but he will not be able to detect where he passes from the zone of actual voice into the area served by the "Loud Speaker." There is no raucous magaphone effect, one simply hears a voice as if it were coming out of the air, a perfect voice and thoroughly recognizable.

Defeats Leesburg 20 to 6---Will Play Culpeper Saturday

On Saturday afternoon the Alexandria High School football team completely swamped the team representing the Leesburg High School. The score was 20 to 0. In the first half of the game things looked pretty tight and no score was registered until within a minute of the half when Jack Pohl ploughed through Leesburg's line for a touchdown. Dreifus kicked the goal. In the third quarter Midkiff broke loose on a criss-cross play and ran 30 yards for his touchdown. Dreifus again added the extra point. In the last quarter Pohl again, after a series of smashing line plunges, slipped loose and ploughed through Leesburg's line and back field and ran 45 yards for another scorer. This time Dreifus, in attempting to add another point, hit the goal post.

Throughout the entire game straight foot ball was used by both teams, forward passes were tried very few times by either side. R. Titus, quarter back of Leesburg, was the only consistent gainer for his team. He also played a good defensive game until, in the third quarter, he had the misfortune of fracturing a bone in his leg. Pohl is doing great work in the back field. Midkiff, Dreifus and Pettit are also playing their parts well. Hayman, in tackle, is still High School's "best bet" on defence but McDermott, in center, and Beach, in guard, threaten to deprive him of some of the praise he now receives.

If A. H. S. is victor in the A. H. S.-Culpeper contest next Saturday, she sees her way clear. This victory would practically make her the Eighth District Champion. Then for the Southeastern champion, and who knows the rest.

Crystal A. C. Wins Again

The strong Capital A. C. went to Congress Heights yesterday to add another victory to their string, defeating the unbeaten Quincy Reserves 12 to 0. The Crystals' first touchdown was made by Cockrell in the first half minute of play, he catching a pass and running 80 yards through a broken field for a touchdown. The work of Otis and Faulkner, two of the fastest half backs in this part of the state, was wonderful to see. The whole team playing as one unit showed what team work can do.

The Sorsis Club, organized with twelve members in March, 1868, by Mrs. Jane Cunningham Croly in New York, was the first woman's club in America.

Young women in Eureka, Cal., may whistle on the streets without being guilty of disturbing the peace, according to the recent decision of a police judge of that city.

Only three women have been portrayed on the United States postage stamps—Martha Washington, Queen Isabella of Spain, and Pocahontas, who saved the life of Capt. John Smith.

Bobbed hair, concealed ears, short skirts and all the other fads and foibles associated with modern women's styles are as old as the pyramids, according to the mute story told by the mummies of both Egypt and Peru.

Character reading by waists is a new "science" which has come into being recently. According to a "waist expert," the girl who is possessed of a short waist has a lively, frank and vivacious disposition, is ambitious and very thoughtful of others. The long-waisted miss is economical, but, unfortunately, she is not always the owner of the sweetest of tempers.

The Man About Town

careful about locking their doors and windows. They should report any strange loafers to the police promptly. Merchants should leave a light burning in their stores so that the patrolman may easily see the interior. Those things would help out a lot."

"Mr. R. E. Knight suggested that it might be a good idea to have the lodging house keepers report the presence of temporary roomers who come to town minus baggage. What do you think of that?"

"A very good suggestion," replied the guardian of peace and property. "We will investigate any case so reported and that without delay."

The Man About Town hurried out to get his story into print. The advice given by the authorities concerning the co-operation of each individual citizen is plain. It will help a lot if that advice is taken seriously and acted upon.

The Man About Town sought the manager of Alexandria's two popular moving picture theatres in search of certain information which should interest our readers.

Mr. Harmon Reed, manager of The Alexandria Amusement Company, is thoroughly familiar with the exhibition of feature films. It is his business to KNOW what the people want, and to see that they get it. As Mr. Reed says: "We strive to do the impossible—and that is please everyone the impossible is proven by the nightly attendance at the Richmond and the Ingomar.

"Some of our customers have complained about the music at the Richmond," said Mr. Reed, "and beginning Monday afternoon at 7 o'clock I will have a three piece orchestra consisting of a piano, violin and 'cello accompanying the exhibition of our pictures there. If the public wants that kind of music it can have it. If the patronage justifies it I will increase the number of pieces. The musicians will be artists in their line and the numbers well selected.

"I have thirty high class first run films booked right now. Monday and Tuesday we will run 'Greater than Love,' starring Louise Glaum; Wednesday and Thursday, 'Frontier of the Stars,' featuring Thomas Meighan; and for Friday and Saturday 'No Woman Knows,' a Carl Lammele production. The other bookings are of the same high grade.

"How about 'The Three Musketeers?'" asked the Man About Town remembering the throngs which filled the streets in front Loew's Columbia Theatre while that play held the screen in the Capital City.

"Candidly," said Mr. Reed, "I don't think we could run to a full house on two successive nights. The feature ran four weeks in Washington. A large percentage of our residents saw it over there. The cost is almost prohibitive at this time. Funny things crop up in the movie game. Remember 'Quo Vadis' which drew record breaking crowds in Washington? Hundreds of Alexandrians saw it while on exhibition there. And I ran the same film here without attracting unusual notice, just a week before."

"Perhaps the D. C. folks were better advertisers," ventured the Man About Town with an eye to future business.

"Not altogether that either," replied Mr. Reed, "We advertised it here. Guess it was the lure of the Big Town and the Big Prices. They ran the admission up sky high in Washington, while I ran it at regular rates"

Human nature is peculiar. But the illustration does show that the local playhouses are giving the movie fans the best material obtainable at reasonable prices. The program outlined by Mr. Harmon Reed compares most favorably with that of any metropolitan picture palace. And we are mighty glad to be able to let the public know about it.
